Germany Plans to Use Its Airships to Destroy the Fleets of Great Britian, as Well as Other Work of Destruction

Washington, August 24.—Germany is about to launch an invasion of England by means of a fleet of giant airships, according to wireless advices received yesterday by the German Embassy from Berlin.

The message declared that a number of large Zeppelin dirigibles were nearly completed and would be sent aloft within the next two or three weeks. Loaded with high explosives they will be sent on a cruise of destruction, along the Belgian and British coasts.

Although the operation of the air craft in dropping bombs thus far have not been as much of a success as was

BIG DAY FOR BOOZE FIGHTERS

Portland reports an epidemic of drunkenness on Sunday and the patrol wagon had a busy day. During the day and evening 51 arrests were made and with few exceptions the parties were almost if not quite helplessly intoxicated. In some cases they could not even be aroused from their stupor.

No one who could get home himself or with the assistance of friends was arrested, and with two or three exceptions those who were taken to the police station were too much overcome to make any resistance.

There was only one slight affray. The liquor deputies made several successful raids. There were no open barrooms and few kitchen resorts, it is said, but the pocket peddlers were in evidence, and apparently well supplied finding many customers.

AUTO DOES THE TANGO

Saturday afternoon owing to the extremely slippery condition of the pavement, an automobile going down Market street skidded and struck a stone post opposite Hanover street, then went on and ran into an iron pole belonging to the Portsmouth Street Railway. The machine was badly damaged. The right mud guard was smashed and the front axle badly bent. The car was taken to a local garage where repairs were made. The car bore a New Hampshire license, and the owner and party were on their way to Maine, coming from the northern part of the state.

OBSEQUIES

William J. Murphy

The funeral of William J. Murphy was held from the church of the Immaculate Conception this morning at 8 o'clock, Rev. Father Walsh celebrating high mass of requiem. Interment was held in Calvary cemetery. The pall bearers were Patrick O'Day, John Leary, Duncan McDonald and Thomas Sullivan.

Catherine Martin of Boston was in the district court today charged with street walking. She pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Not being able to pay she was sent to the county farm to work it out.

CAPTURED IN NEWBURYPORT

Alleged Forger Who is Said to Have Operated in Portsmouth and Many Other New England Cities, Taken into Custody

Newburyport, August 24.—Archie M. Morrison of this city, who is wanted for alleged forgery in Boston, Haverhill, Milford, Gloucester, Manchester, Ipswich, Amesbury and Portsmouth, N. H., was taken into custody Sunday morning by Officers John M. Hayes and George G. Adams, at his home on Neptune street on a warrant from the Boston police headquarters.

Morrison, with Arthur Williams, who is now awaiting trial at the Salem jail, charged with being an accomplice have been going from place to place passing checks alleged to have been forged, generally ignored by some prominent contractor or manufacturer in the city or town in which they were working. A number of checks were passed in Portsmouth and Ipswich, with the endorsement of Dodge Brothers, shoe manufacturers, and Cashman Brothers, contractors, of this city.

The checks were for sums from $5 to $50, the largest being cashed in Boston. The capture of Morrison was effected through a tip received by Officer Adams, who learned that Morrison had arrived on the midnight train and was with his family at their home. Armed with the warrant the police searched the house and found Morrison concealed in one of the rooms. He was locked up and the Boston police headquarters notified.

Inspector Sheehan and Stab Officer Wells came here late in the afternoon and took the prisoner back. He told the officers he did not forge the checks but admitted passing them.

Morrison has served two terms at Charlestown State Prison. At one time he claimed to be a preacher and went from place to place holding open-air meetings. He has a wife and three children.

that they decisively defeated five French troops, whose retreat to Verdun was subsequently cut off.

SWAM FROM BOONE ISLAND TO YORK BEACH

G. E. Hardy of Marlboro, Mass., on Sunday swam from Boone Island to Short Sands York Beach, a distance of twelve miles, and he was in the water over seven hours. This is the first time as far as known, that this swim has been accomplished. It is an ocean swim and with the conditions as they were yesterday Hardy showed considerable courage in sticking it out.

Hardy, who is one of the Boston group of long distance swimmers, was accompanied by Frank E. Anderson in a boat during the long swim. He entered the water at Boone Island at 9:00 and at first it was comparatively easy going with an easy sea, but after he had swam about two miles the wind

Magee Has Missed Chance to Share in Much World's Series Money

SHERWOOD MAGEE

Philadelphia, August 24.—Sherwood Magee of the Phillies thinks he is the champion hard luck player of the game. Magee is one of the greatest natural hitters since Ed Delahanty's day. Magee also figures that he should have led the National league hitters six out of the last eight years. Back in 1907 Chance tried to trade Magee to the Phillies for me, said Magee. "If the trade had gone through it would have been a big thing for Sherwood Magee. The Cubs won a string of pennants and figured in a bunch of world's series battles. Aside from the money involved, think of the cover off the ball. Later J. J. McGraw tried to trade Magee to me. The deal was all framed up. Billy Murray told me to pack my trunk and get ready to move. Then something happened and the exchange was called off. The last turn of the wheel prevented me from sharing in all the world's series money the Giants have collected."

BATTLE FOR MARKSMANSHIP HONORS NOW ON

Fifty-Seven Matches Are Scheduled Between Now and Sept. 8 at Sea Girt.

Houston, Aug. 24.—The war in Europe seems to be helping the port of Boston instead of hindering it, for the port director announces that the business of the port for the month of July shows a satisfactory increase. One hundred and eighty-five vessels entered the port of Boston in the foreign trade during July of this year, against 155 for the same period last year, a gain of thirty vessels, or over 19 per cent. The gain of these 30 vessels in one month made the shipping tonnage 34,388 net tons greater last month than it was for July of last year, a gain of over 10 per cent. The increase in the coastwise trade was not marked, only one per cent, or 12 more vessels entering the port in July, 1914, than July, 1913, but yet it represented an increase from 982 to 994 vessels in a period of only 31 days and an increase in shipping tonnage of 52,293 gross tons, over four per cent.

The city investigation shows no cause for legal action in the recent jump in prices for provisions. The state is continuing its inquiry and the preliminary report of the Federal investigators has been forwarded to Washington. Shortage in stock and abnormal buying suddenly by the public are given as the causes in Boston for the recent rise in prices of food-stuffs by the inspectors of the Boston board of health, who have been engaged in the investigation. The supply of beef shipped into Boston is fifty per cent, below normal, and other food-stuffs are being held in the great storage houses of the west waiting for the advance in prices that exhaustion of the local supply will bring, the report states.

Dedication of the Memorial tablet that was to have been unveiled in Christ church September 13, in honor of 100 years of peace between Great Britain and the United States, and also in memory of the British soldiers who fell at Bunker Hill, has been postponed because of the war in Europe.

The state board of health announces that the Pasteur treatment for rabies may now be obtained in Boston and it is no longer necessary to send patients to New York.

Chairman Randall of the Prison commission has recommended that the Boston City Council send one member of the managing board and the superintendent of each county prison as delegates to the congress of the American Prison Association, which is to be held in St. Paul, Minnesota, from Oct. 3 to Oct. 8.

DAILY SPORT LETTER

New York, August 25.—A few years more and the negro race that had occupied such an important position in the pugilistic world for more than 30 years will have skidded into obscurity. Just a few years ago the negroes almost ruled the heavyweight division. Jack Johnson was champion, Sam Langford was runner-up and Joe Jeanette stood head and shoulders over most of the white scrappers. But Sam's star is on the wane, Jeanette now ranks as a has-been, and Johnson alone holds his own place. But added years and dissipation have hurt Johnson. Sooner or later he must crumple and when he does he will go down with a loud splash.

There are no classy negro lightweights today. When the wonderful Joe Gans passed on and down it left his race without a representative. There are no real negro fighters in the middleweight division and none in the featherweight divisions.

The old discussion of who was the greatest fighter in the lightweight divisions has bubbled up again. Out in Chicago they think that Battling Nelson deserves the vote. The old time fighters hand the crown to Joe Gans.

The rank and file of fight fans feel that the title should be given to one or the other—and no other lightweight measures up to them. Gans and Nelson were totally different in their styles of fighting. Gans was one of the most scientific men that ever stepped into the ring. He depended more on his wonderful brain, his amazing speed, his marvelous defense and generalship than he did on a punch.

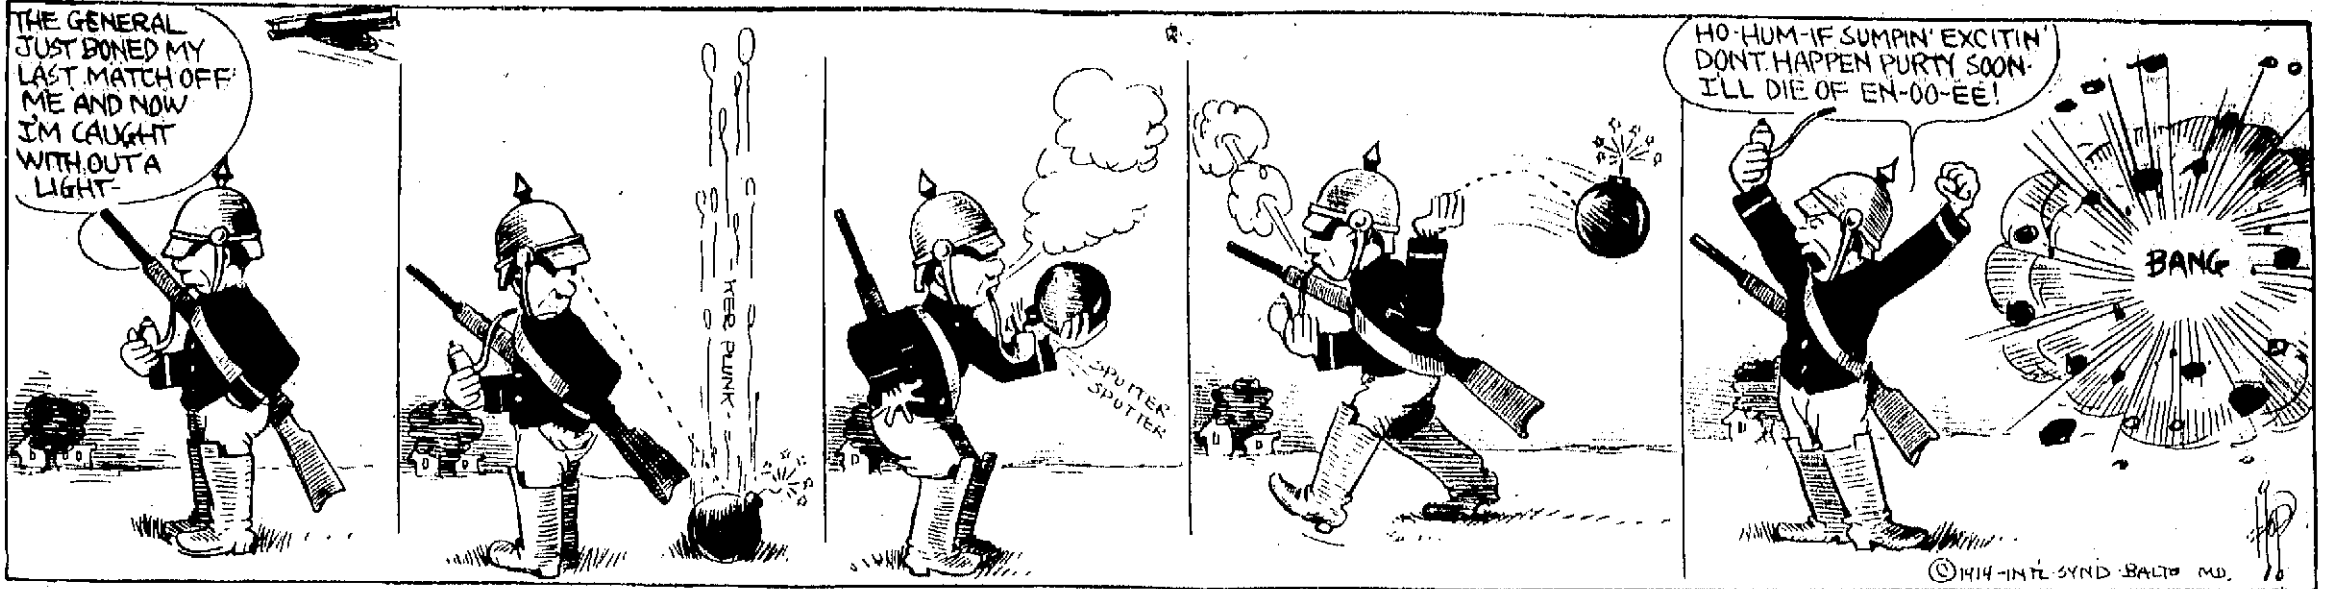

Nelson, on the other hand, probably was the most ungraceful citizen that ever held any kind of a pugilistic title. But how he could hit! And the punishment he could take. Nelson stood after time stood up under a rain of blows from his opponent that had enough force to knock out ninety-nine out of one hundred men.

Bat knew nothing about science. He had no footwork, and his defense for the most part was a joke. But he possessed the power to assimilate a terrible amount of punishment and still have enough energy to slip over a

GOVERNMENT TO GIVE PRIVATE CAPITAL A CHANCE

Will Not Purchase Ships for Merchant Marine If It Can Be Done By Private Corporations.

Washington, Aug. 23.—That the bill providing for the purchase by the Government of a fleet of ships to transport American products abroad will be held up temporarily, to permit time for private capital to undertake the business, if it will, was the general understanding after a White House conference Saturday afternoon, at which the President, Senator Charles of Arkansas and Representative Alexander went over the whole situation.

Even after the bill is introduced, should it be found necessary through the failure of private capital to appear, it will be advanced slowly. If at any stage of the proceedings, it is seen that anything like an adequate amount of capital can be obtained the bill will be abandoned altogether.

Prefers to Give Private Capital a Chance.

President Wilson, it was said, had been convinced that the measure was absolutely necessary, and that unless the Government itself should buy a

LOOK FOR ARMY-WORM MOTHS WITH ONE COLORED WING

U. S. Department of Agriculture Requests the Public's Assistance in Determining the Habits of Troublesome Pest.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—Every one interested in the destruction of the army-worm pest is being requested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to look out for army-worm moths with one artificially-colored wing. The Department's entomologists are catching army-worm moths where they are plentiful, coloring one wing of each, and then liberating them in the same territory, so that they may determine whether these moths fly directly west, or north, and how quickly and far they will spread. A better knowledge of the habits of this pest should enable the Department to control its spread. No moths are to be let loose where their liberation could possibly add to the natural damage.

The moths are already showing themselves in Virginia and in Maryland, and the Department's agents are catching specimens at Portsmouth and Charlottesville in Virginia, and Hagerstown in Maryland. The agents at Portsmouth are applying a red stain to one wing of each specimen caught; those at Charlottesville a black or yellow stain; and those at Hagerstown a violet color. Then the moths are left to follow the natural course they would have pursued.

"Look for the army-worm moth with a colored wing during the coming month," the Department's Bureau of Entomology is advising its agents east of the Mississippi. Any one observing a marked specimen will aid in the campaign by reporting the fact to the Bureau of Entomology, Washington, D. C. When its presence has been noted, the moth should be destroyed.

How to Recognize the Moth

The wings of the army-worm moth, when outspread, measure about 1 1/2 inches from tip to tip. The body is about half this length. The general shape of the moth with its wings outspread is triangular. The moths will hover about the lights in the evening. On farms, they will be found on the outside of screens and doors at night. They will probably not be observed in the daytime. On dark, hot, close nights such as precede thunder storms, they will probably be especially noticeable.

The army-worm pest has caused considerable damage to the crops and lawns this summer throughout the northern United States east of the Mississippi. The worms are only now disappearing in northern Maine and Michigan, which were probably hatched from the eggs of moths migrating from more southern portions of the country. With the additional knowledge that this experiment will give, the Department hopes to control the spread of the pest more completely in coming years.

TURN OVER SHIP TO ARGENTINE NAVY

Quincy, Aug. 23.—The superdreadnought, Rivadavia, built at the Puget Sound shipyard in Quincy, will leave here Monday noon for the first time and will steam up to the Charlestown navy yard where the flag of Argentina will be formally hoisted on the ship and the crew will march on board. The crew of 300 officers and men reached Boston a few days ago on the transport Tampa and Chaco.

The Argentine flag is a standard red and white with a yellow sun in the center. After the Rivadavia receives her crew on Wednesday ammunition and provisions will be taken aboard and the big ship will steam for New York within a few days and go into dry dock at the Brooklyn navy yard. After the water-work is completed and painted the Rivadavia will leave New York for a 24-hour run at top speed, which will be her final trial.

It is stipulated in the contract that the final speed trial shall be conducted with the Argentine officers and crew in charge and with a full load of ammunition, coal and provisions aboard. After this run the Rivadavia will steam for Buenos Aires, where she is expected Oct. 15. A grand celebration awaits her arrival in that city.

Capt. Jose Moneta, one of the best known naval men of Argentina, has been honored with the command of Argentina's first superdreadnought. Capt. Moneta is a native of Buenos Aires, where he was born in 1870. At the age of 14 he entered the Argentine Naval Academy and graduated from there at the age of 19. He served on the commission appointed to determine the Argentine, Brazilian and Chilean boundaries and during the Russo-Japanese War he served with the Russian Army as the Argentine attaché. In that capacity he was an eyewitness of the famous battle of Mukden.

Capt. Moneta first visited the United States six years ago in charge of the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmentino and in that ship made a tour of the world. In 1911 he was appointed chief inspector of construction of the Rivadavia and has been detailed to duty in this city ever since.

Capt. Moneta talks English fluently. He has given several lectures recently at Clark University on "Patagonia," a country with which he is very familiar. Capt. Moneta is unmarried. He has been decorated by the Emperor of Germany and the Czar of Russia and also wears the medal of the Legion of Honor granted him by the republic of France.

The Moreno, sister ship to the Rivadavia, building at Camden, N. J., will have her trial trips next month and is expected in Buenos Aires in December.

NORRIS' DEATH DUE TO ACCIDENT OR SUICIDE

Theory of Robbery and Murder Not Held By County Officials--

That John Norris of Epping came to his death by either accident or suicide is the belief of the County officials who have made a most searching investigation. Norris will be remembered as a young man who was the owner of a farm building at Epping on Thursday morning, and there were rumors about the case which were mysterious and indicated foul play.

County Solicitor Gupthill with Sheriff Spinnery have been at work on the case since the body was found, and they have followed every rumor and clue while at times there were some suspicions of foul play the ywere not strengthened by further investigation.

The autopsy performed by Deputy Medical Referee Knowlton and Dr. Mitchell, showed that death had been due to suffocation, and Saturday, Dr. Knowlton signed the death certificate as death due to suffocation from accident.

The county authorities found that

Norris had been insane for some time and the night before his property was destroyed he was very bad off. That he had money was proven, but of the three or four hundred dollars, two hundred was in a check and the remainder in bills, all of which could have been easily destroyed in the fire. The fact that his charred body was found outside of the hay barn, indicated that it was not placed there for had there been robbery and murder, the body would have been placed in the hay barn and been entirely consumed.

Whether Norris' death was due to accident or suicide is not known by the authorities but they are satisfied that it was one or the other. Robbery would be the only motive for foul play and there is no evidence to support this.

Today County Solicitor Gupthill will go to Epping and with Attorney General Tuttle go over the case again, but no new evidence is expected and the case will probably be closed.

TAFT TO SPEAK AT N. H. COLLEGE

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Aug. 23.—Former President Taft will speak at Durham sometime this winter. He has written to Prof. Guy C. Smith, of the lecture course committee, and consented to talk to the students. The date has not yet been arranged.

Word has been received here from Prof. Richard Whoriskey who has been traveling in Germany, that he will sail in a few days for America. When last heard from Mr. Whoriskey was near Frankfurt in Germany, but his calendar shows that he has succeeded in leaving Germany and entering Holland. He will sail from one of the Dutch ports, presumably Rotterdam.

Professor James, who is in England, has already notified the president that he will return to college in time for the opening of the school year.

No word has yet been received from Prof. Fred Rasmussen, of the dairy department, who is in Denmark, from Prof. Richards, of the English department, who is in England, or any news as to when Prof. Helen R. Thompson, of the home economics department, expects to return.

H. C. Morrison, superintendent of public instruction of New Hampshire, has written to Prof. E. H. Groves, praising the bibliography of rural sociology recently issued by him. This is a list of books for the use of students of rural problems and Mr. Morrison says: "I think it is the most important thing that has been written. It will be of distinct value to us here." Requests for the bibliography which is for free distribution, have been received from many parts of the country.

New Hampshire College will have an orchard day Thursday, August 27. The morning exercises will be held in the college buildings and in the afternoon there will be an excursion to the Woodman orchard at Packers Falls, about four miles from Durham, where important experiments have been carried on by the department of horticulture for several years. This last season there has been a test made there of various spray materials and the results are now evident. Cultural and fertilizer tests have also been conducted there for seven years and the work will be explained to those present. All who are interested in orcharding are cordially invited to come to Durham Thursday.

A Righteous Agitation.

Whatever the results may be, the fact that federal and municipal authorities are endeavoring to prevent extortion on the part of dealers in food supplies is highly gratifying to the people, who feel that they are being imposed upon in the matter of prices under the pretext that the war in Europe makes the sharp advances that have recently taken place unavoidable. With respect to most articles consumers do not believe this to be true, and that the authorities have serious doubts is shown by their action.

This paper has previously made reference to the fact that the great majority of the people of this country are opposed to paternalism. They feel that under normal conditions it is better for the government to keep its hands off and let them attend to their own business, but that at a time like this if there is anything that can be done to loosen the grip of extortion it should be done.

And it is to be. Agents of the federal government are investigating conditions in many places and municipal authorities are taking steps to break the strangle-hold of the food speculators wherever it may be encountered. In Chicago an ordinance has been drawn, which it is expected will soon be passed by the city council, providing a fine of from $50 to $200 for unjustifiably raising the price of foods. The New York authorities have had representatives of the meat packers before them to explain the situation in their line of business, municipal markets are to be established in numerous cities, and all along the line there is an agitation to protect consumers against the greed and grasping of those who under false pretenses would profit at their expense.

This is proper. All are aware that war creates abnormal conditions and that the people of this country must suffer to some extent from the effects of the troubles abroad, but thus far there is observable no good reason why home products, of which there is a great abundance, should jump skyward in price, especially at a time when facilities for exportation are extremely limited. The people are willing to pay war prices that are actually the result of war, or to go without the commodities, but they are not ready to be ruthlessly robbed by cut-throat speculators, and are consequently prepared for paternalism or any other remedy that will afford protection.

American toy manufacturers are waking up to the fact that their market may be especially good this year and are preparing for the extra business. Many of the toys used in this country have been imported from Germany, and the war promises to create a boom in their manufacture here. And the same will be true to some extent in other lines of manufacture. The United States is in a position to be mighty independent when it comes to a show-down.

A feature at many of the agricultural fairs this fall will be parcel post exhibits, designed to show the advantages of the system to farmers. Many have already learned this, but the majority have given it little attention and these exhibits are liable to open their eyes.

A Maine sheriff discovered several trunks a few days ago that had been shipped into the state loaded with whiskey. It is hard to keep out the stuff when a demand for it exists, yet the officers can make the traffic unpleasant when they attend to business.

This is the time of year to keep the shotgun loaded, chicken stealing being in vogue in many places. Roost robbing is a low-down crime and a charge of shot is none too good for the man that will sloop to it.

The Kaiser's "insanity" does not go to the extent of maltreating Americans in his country, those who have returned from Germany being unanimous in the declaration that they were well used there.

Carranza's entrance into Mexico City was made under very gratifying conditions. It looks as if the worst was over in that troubled republic, though there is no telling what may happen there at any time.

The recovery of the purser's safe from the Empress of Ireland, which was sunk in the St. Lawrence river some time ago, affords another illustration of the wonderful skill developed by the divers.

Those who regard the war as foreshadowing the second coming of Christ perhaps base their belief on his saying when on earth that he came not to bring peace, but a sword.

Some physicians advise the use of less meat as a health measure. Just at this time the prescription also has its value in economics.

St. Peter's Cathedral, Rome, and Some of The Cardinals Mentioned For New Pope.

Photos by American Press Association.

According to custom, the cardinals of the Roman Catholic church meet in sacred conclave at the Vatican ten days after the death of a pope to elect his successor. They attend mass at St. Peter's, where the late Pope Pius is buried, and then organize the conclave. Each cardinal is given certain quarters. Many ballots may be taken, extending over several days, or the new pope may be chosen forthwith. Here is shown St. Peter's, Rome, and some of the cardinals whose names have been mentioned as possible choices. They are (1) Cardinal Goetti, (2) Cardinal Sarto, (3) Cardinal Lorenzelli, (4) Cardinal Prisco, (5) Cardinal Martinelli, (6) Cardinal Rinaldi and (7) Cardinal Cavallari.

THE WAR'S GREATEST MYSTERY

Entire World Would Like to Know What Has Taken Place in North Sea.

(By Herbert Temple, European Manager of the International News Service)

London, Aug. 24.—What has been going on in the North Sea? That is the greatest mystery of the war, the problem most difficult to solve. It is now over three weeks since the announcement was made that the English fleet had left Portsmouth under sealed orders to meet the German fleet. The impenetrable veil of the censor, sitting here in London and controlling the enemy's news as well as his own, was lifted for the bare statement. Then it dropped again and nothing authentic has since been heard of the mono-war in the North Sea. The outside world cannot pierce the veil. There are no correspondents aboard the warships of either England or Germany in the North Sea to send back even censored dispatches.

Of the fighting on land, the public hears something. At the start there were correspondents in Belgium and every day some news more or less authentic of the fighting in Belgium and in Alsace and Lorraine has been published. But of the naval doling in the North Sea, not a word. At first there were stories of a great battle, heavy firing was said to have been heard at sea off various British coast towns. One story said that a German Zeppelin with bombs had destroyed a British warship every night. But all of these reports were effectively denied. It is a fact that the world has learned nothing from the North Sea since the English and German fleets put to sea there. Has there been a battle?

It seems reasonable, if the Germans had met with actual reverses upon the sea, that the British censor would be ready and willing to publish them. On the other hand, if the Germans have had successes, the London censor would hardly be expected to advertise them, but the fact would surely have been given out in Berlin and have reached the world by this time.

The two fleets now in the North Sea are, in their intricacy of construction and their death-dealing facilities, the finest product of all ages of maritime warfare, which is as old as the sea and as old as mankind.

These fleets are to fight the most important battle of the war, for the supremacy of the sea is perhaps the greatest prize of the great conflict. England has held the leadership of the ocean. Germany wants it. Germany is fighting to control the balance of power of Europe and to control the colonies of the world. If she would command the land, Germany must control the sea.

So it is that a vital, if not the most vital issue of the war, hangs on the outcome of affairs in the North Sea and that is the one thing about which the public has not the slightest inkling. Everything is fair in love and war, the old adage has it. Love is always with the world. There are daily reminders of its existence, but the world is now learning again that all is fair in war, also.

It was three hundred years ago that Francis Bacon told the English: "He that commands the sea is at great liberty and may take as much or as little of war as he will, whereas those that are strongest by land are, nevertheless, often in difficulties." Germany, under Wilhelm II, is ambitions for supremacy in Europe. She is now engaged in great fighting in Belgium. If Germany loses this land battle, her ambition can yet be satisfied if she gains in her warfare on the sea. On the other hand, England holding the supremacy of the sea, if she is defeated in the land fighting, can yet hold the command of a Germany only victorious on land and.

In nearly all great wars naval victories have decided the issue. In battles deciding the command of the sea, the world's history has had its turning points. The naval battle of Salamis was fought B. C. 480 and its victory for the Greeks saved the European continent from Oriental domination under the Persians. The naval battle of Actium, fought B. C. 31, overthrew Anthony and Cleopatra and overthrew as well their plan to make Alexandria, Egypt, the capital of the Roman Empire and halting its destinies by Eastern instead of Western ideas. The battle of Actium marked the end of the Roman Empire with many vicissitudes, which lasted until Napoleon's time.

The defeat of the great Spanish Armada of Philip II, by the English in 1588 when Elizabeth was Queen, not only saved England to the English, but saved English civilization to the Western world of America.

Great Britain was again rescued from invasion and the domination of the First Napoleon by the Battle of Trafalgar in 1805.

It was on May 27, 1905, when Russia and Japan were at war in Eastern waters, that Admiral Togo began the great naval battle of Tsushima, the Japanese fleet reading his inspiring message as the flags fluttered up to the signal yards of Togo's flagship, Mikasa. "The rise or fall of our empire depends upon today's battle. Let every man do his utmost." Japan on that day swept the Russian fleet from the sea at Tsushima and eventually swept it from Eastern waters. The Japanese-Russian war was practically settled by that battle and Japan's place along the great powers of the world dates from that engagement.

Should Germany be able to obtain in the North sea such a naval victory over the British warships, it would probably win the war for her and rank in importance to a Trafalgar or a Tsushima.

CURRENT OPINION

Servians Use Assassination as Means to Effect Purpose of Government.

In Servia assassination for political reasons is more or less used as a political means of effecting the government's purpose. The whole civilized world was scandalized at the time of the assassination of King Alexander and his wife, Queen Draga.

Was it an anarchist who committed that terrible deed? No. They were officers of the Servian army. And have they ever been punished? No. They never have been called to account for their crime, and they are still holding high positions in the Servian army. There exists a strong current of opinion that Austria-Hungary should leave it to the Servian government to punish the instigators of the murder of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his consort. Does it not sound like irony?

Was perhaps the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga the only political murder in the modern history of Servia? No. In the year 1888 the Servian Prince Michael was also the victim of political and not an anarchist plot. And King Milan died a natural death only because he fled in time to Austrian territory.

With an enemy that has such a standard of political morals only the sword can speak the right language.—By Dr. Charles Winter, Acting Consul General of Austria-Hungary in New York.

TOO MANY HOUSES.

Railroad Planning to Discontinue Them at Small Stations.

It is reported in railroad circles that the Boston and Maine will soon make another move in economy in the way of closing some of the round houses at the smaller stations on the system. It is understood that the company is working on a plan to discontinue 23 engine houses in all, but none of the officials are able to verify the report. Among the houses to be closed are those at Alton Bay, Somersworth, North Berwick, and Reading on the Portland division.

For several years at Reading the people have not been pleased with the smoke and gas from the engine house in that town and their sentiment adds greatly toward the removal of the building.

It appears to be a different question in this city where the railroad will be required to enlarge the house to accommodate the locomotives that are put up there over night.

Increased attention in Portsmouth is being given the candidacy of

who filed last month on the Republican ticket

FOR COUNTY SOLICITOR

The new candidate practised as an assistant in the office of Ex-Attorney General Eastman for two years, and since opening an office for himself has had large success with judicature. This work has been along lines to fit him for the position.

Mr. Sleeper served for three years on the school board in his town, and now holds the town office of secretary-treasurer, but has never before entered party politics.

His efforts to gain the nomination are gaining approval of Republicans in this part of the county, and it is believed that most of the progressive voters will support his nomination and elect him.

To the Voters of Portsmouth:

On September 1st I shall contest the Republican nomination of Ernest L. Emphill, Esq., who is seeking the office of County Solicitor for a third term.

The large population of Portsmouth and the comparatively large amount of business it has for a solicitor to do, requires, I believe, a solicitor's office in Portsmouth. I shall, if nominated and elected, keep an office in this city and use my best efforts to meet with the requirements here, by attending promptly and impartially to county business.

Naturally my opponent will have an advantage in Portsmouth by reason of friendships formed here. But it will be a disappointment to me if Portsmouth feels duty bound to support him simply because he is a legal resident of the city, because I have always lived in this county and believe that county nominations should never raise issues between different towns and cities in the county.

Much encouragement has been given me by Portsmouth people and I hope for a full expression from the voters here. May the one whom they believe the more able and willing to attend to county business all the year round receive a good majority in Portsmouth on September 1st.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM H. SLEEPER.

JAPAN DECLARES WAR ON GERMANY

Japan this afternoon at the expiration of the time of her ultimatum to Germany, declared war on Germany and the Japanese minister to Berlin was instructed to leave for England while the German Ambassador to Japan was given his pass port and he will leave as soon as possible for the United States.

Germany ignored Japan's demand and at the expiration of the time war was formally declared.

Japan had expected from the first that her demand would be refused and her army and navy have been in readiness to strike for some days. The German possessions in China are the objective point of the Japanese army backed up by the fleet.

Antwerp, Aug. 23.—A great battle between the Germans and the allied forces began Saturday morning, according to official announcement.

The battle line extends from Namur to Charleroi, which lies about 20 miles to the west.

London, Aug. 23.—A despatch from Ostend to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that a battle appeared to have been taking place since early morning near Charleroi in Southern Central Belgium.

Charleroi is less than twenty miles from the French frontier. No details of the fighting have reached here. It is not known who won or even which army, Belgian or French, opposed the Kaiser's troops. It is quite possible that the French, in force, have made a stand to prevent invasion of their own territory.

Two days ago it was reported that a heavy engagement took place at Charleroi. On that occasion it was asserted that 6,000 Germans had been killed. Possibly this is a continuation of the same encounter, which may be the beginning of the "great battle" so long awaited.

There was other fighting in South Belgium today. The Germans, with big guns, began a bombardment of the strongly fortified city of Namur and the Belgian fortifications endeavored to defend the place as they did Liege.

Apart from these engagements the Belgian situation seemed to be as follows:

Ostend Not Yet in Hands of Germans
Despite early reports, Ostend, the coast town on the Dover Strait, appears not to have been taken yet by the Germans. What news there was from Belgium reached England through Ostend, where the correspondents were filing their despatches. They could not do so if the town were in the hands of the invaders.

Liege was reported in a desperate way. Antwerp was preparing for an attack and a long siege.

It was feared the Germans would seize art treasures or destroy public works because of the failure of Brussels and Liege to pay the $50,000,000 war tribute which the invaders demand. Neither of the cities has the money to pay.

An English, however, were fleeing from Ostend, the Belgian seashore resort, which is their favorite summer playground. Preparations were made to have the town wide open for the progress of whatever German forces chose to occupy it. The civic guard was disbanded and 1,000 volunteer soldiers who had been there were sent away.

As phrased by the correspondent of the Express: "Northern Belgium is now a German province, at least temporarily, since the battle has yet to be fought."

The main part of the German army, moving westward has not yet crossed the River Sambre, which is to the east of Ghent, Bruges and Ostend, so it cannot be told positively if they will occupy these towns, or whether they want them. It seems certain, though, that they may have them all if they want to take them.

In addition to the war tribute of $10,000,000 levied upon the province and city, Liege has been indicted of an additional $2,000,000, the German army having seized this amount of cash in private banks.

"All citizens have been ordered to hand over their arms, and at the same time the peasants have been invited to return to the country and begin harvesting."

"The lives of foreigners in Liege are in danger. There are a great many Dutchmen there, and the Dutch Government is taking measures for their protection."

In conclusion, the correspondent says that Prince Fritzel-Friedrich, second son of Emperor William, has left Liege.

Gen. Lemmen, the Belgian commander of the forts at Liege, is a prisoner of the Germans and is being taken to Cologne.

Fearing Germans Will Destroy Art Treasures.

The German demand for indemnity from Brussels and the Province of Liege—$10,000,000 from the first and $10,000,000 from the second—is regarded here as one of the hardest exactions suffered by the Belgians as a result of the invasion.

The question is how the two cities are going to meet this bill. The cash from the banks in both cities was almost all removed to Antwerp when German occupation was threatened. It is feared that the Germans will either demolish valuable historic and public buildings, or seize art treasures if the citizens are not able to scrape together the $20,000,000 required, which is considered impossible.

Brussels has priceless art collections. Its public galleries are rich in examples of the Flemish and Dutch schools of painting, and the Royal Library contains 600,000 volumes, 100,000 manuscripts and 50,000 coins. The Royal Museum in Brussels is one of the finest in Europe, and there are many costly statues in the capital.

From Paris comes official information that the concentration of Belgian troops before Antwerp has been completed in good order. The morale of the Belgian troops has not been impaired.

A despatch from Corbieres, France, relates that as an unnamed German general, and eight hundred German soldiers, all prisoners, among the troops being many Alsathians, were on their way to a detention camp, the captives fell into discussion of the war situation. Blows followed and soon there was a general scrimmage. Several of the prisoners were injured before they could be separated.

A Paris paper, describing the entry of the Germans into Brussels, says a feature of the manoeuvre was the presence with the German forces of a hundred automobiles fitted with machine guns.

Another story says that two Belgian officers, manacled to the stirrups of horsemen, were obliged in this manner to accompany the cortege through the city. The spectacle provoked the popular, who were threatened by the cavalrymen.

A Central News despatch from Antwerp says it is reported from Brussels that assurance has been given by the Germans that they will not continue to occupy the capital, confining themselves with having marched through the town.

Warns Against News from One Side Only.

The official press bureau this afternoon issued a warning to the public to bear in mind that for practical purposes almost all information, official or unofficial, concerning the progress of the land operations comes at present from the side of the allies.

Rome, Aug. 23.—Mobilization of all of Italy's land and sea fighting forces has been decided upon and will be proclaimed in three or four days. It is reported here on highest authority.

This mobilization will include the home defense, and orders now are ready to be signed, it is said.

It is asserted that King Victor Emmanuel until recently felt obliged to renounce all idea of Italian intervention in the conflict but was won over by the arguments of his Ministers. Marquis Antonio di San Giuliano, Minister of Foreign Affairs, alone of the cabinet held to a contrary opinion.

Confers With Count Witte

Significance is placed on the conference here today between Count Witte, former Premier of Russia, and the Italian Foreign Minister. It is reported Count Witte also conferred with Theophile Delcasse, former Foreign Minister of France.

It is stated at the Foreign Office, that Marquis San Giuliano has received no word from Austria regarding his request for an explanation of the landing of Austrian munitions in the Albanians for service against Serbia.

The feeling against Austria is very bitter throughout Italy.

The thirteenth Italia prints a despatch from Pola, Austria, saying that conditions there are most grave. The correspondent adds:

"The authorities have issued notices asking all the inhabitants to make food provision for ninety days. Those unable to do so must leave within twenty-four hours. This is due to the expected bombardment by the Anglo-French fleet."

It is reported the Duke of the Abruzzi has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Italian navy.

GERMANY CUT OFF FROM WORLD ASKS PRESS TO BE FAIR IN NEWS.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—Germany is completely cut off from the rest of the world, and can neither send out news nor receive it. The empire is therefore unable to defend itself against the attacks made on it by the press of the hostile countries.

It can only defend itself by its deeds. The German people will be profoundly grateful for every effort to disseminate the real truth.

BELGIUM COMPLAINS TO U. S. OF GERMANY'S NEUTRALITY VIOLATION.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Germany was accused today of violating the treaty of 1839 between Prussia and Belgium by the Minister to the United States from Belgium. Mr. Haynath told the Secretary of State he was forced to complain by instructions from his Government.

The Belgian Minister said that in invading Belgium Germany had literally torn up the treaty of 1839 between Prussia and Belgium, which guaranteed the independence and neutrality of Belgium.

PAINLESS WOUNDS MADE BY GERMANS

Paris, Aug. 23.—Among the French wounded being cured for in Paris hospital it is frequently remarked that their wounds inflicted by the small-calibre German bullet were not painful. Many men were not aware they had been hit until after the engagement was over.

One soldier declares he did not know he had been hurt until the following morning, when he discovered a ball had gone through his arm, leaving no outward indication except two dark spots on the skin, such as might be made by a lead pencil.

The men in the hospitals pass the time gaily, listening to accounts of the progress of the war read aloud by one of their number. They make no complaint except to deplore the delay in getting back to the front. A private with four bullet wounds in one leg smiled and said: "I'll get them yet, in spite of this."

A captain of Chasseurs, wounded in the forehead, is constantly asking his attendants when he will be allowed to go after the enemy again.

Dum-Dum Bullets.

Paris, Aug. 23.—The Government today calls the attention of the Powers which signed The Hague convention to its report that on Aug. 10, following an engagement, a French army surgeon found five dum-dum bullets on the road to Munster, in Alsace. These bullets were in a rifle clip and were turned over to the French commanding general.

Other dum-dum bullets taken from the bodies of French soldiers killed in battle have been forwarded to the Minister of War.

ITALY HAS SECRET AGREEMENT WITH ENGLAND.

Rome, Aug. 23.—The feeling for England has grown even warmer, since news of the declaration of war against Germany. The N. Y. World correspondent had a talk with a military man this afternoon, who requests that his name be kept secret, and who served in Africa in the first Libyan campaign. He affirms that there is a secret agreement between Italy and England, whereby Italy's neutrality shall cease the moment Austria's position in the Adriatic threatens either this country or the Triple Entente. Then, Italy's fleet and army shall be at the disposal of England.

In return Italy will regain her beloved little peninsula between Trieste and Fiume, where there are so many Italians under the Austrian yoke, and so many centuries of Italian traditions for these were colonies in the days of ancient Rome, and again during the halcyon days of the Venetian Republic.

Anti-Austrian feeling becomes stronger here every day. Officers have notified their staff that their men would not take up arms for Austria and that the officers would refuse to press their men to do so. Thus is traditional hatred stronger than all political alliances.

This plan of retaking Trieste, and perhaps the old ports of the Dalmatian coast, is so pleasing to the Italians that many rich men have offered large sums of money to the King to defray expenses.

King Would Lead Army.

If war comes, the King, it is stated by military men, will go into the campaign. The general staff would be removed from Rome to North Italy. The King is a good tactician, and much respected by his soldiers.

WHAT IS TRUE LOVE?

Once into the life of almost every man and woman comes an experience that makes existence divine. Then human creatures live not on the world

COUNTY OFFICIALS MAKE SUNDAY RAIDS

County Solicitor E. L. Gupill, with Sheriff Sydney and Deputy Shaw, were busy on Sunday looking over suspicious places in the county. They started Saturday night and raided a place at Beaver Lake, Berry, and found some liquor.

Sunday morning they went over the Indian and French district in Hopkinton and found everything very quiet there and no evidence of sale. In the afternoon they were at Hampton Beach and several suspected places were visited but there was nothing doing. Not for a great many years has Hampton Beach been so free from "speakeasies" as at present. The repeated raids of the County officials has made liquor selling without a license a very unprofitable business.

FARM HAND MISSING WITH PAIR OF HORSES

L. W. Sargent of Cambridge, who has a farm at Stratham, reported to the police on Sunday, that his farm hand, Harry Frost is missing, and with him a pair of horses and a farm wagon.

Friday, when Mr. Sargent was away Frost is alleged to have taken a load of five chickens to this city and sold them and that was the last seen of him, other than the same day he was seen driving through Greenland. He took the chickens without authority and evidently intended to get away.

The horses were hitched to a long farm wagon of blue running gear and green body. The horses were a gray and white pair. Frost is about 5 ft. 3 in and has a crooked nose.

earth but in heaven. They are transformed within, and become as if newborn. All is changed also around them, the streets are gold, the stars shing, the world is crystal. This experience is called true love.

It is a kind of madness. It is like intoxication. It is a dream, a wonder, a miracle, common to all people, it is yet the most uncommon, amazing, shattering thing known.

It is the love of one man and one woman. It is the mating instinct of Nature as translated into spirit qualities by the deep human heart and the majestic human brain.

The first effect is to shut out all the rest of mankind. The two are welded up in a world of their own. They want no one else. Their thoughts cannot escape intense concentration upon one another. They are monomaniacs.

To the man in true love with one woman all other women have something repellent toward him.

Monogamy is not merely a custom, nor an artificial or economic arrangement, nor a state prescribed by the authority of religion; it is a psychological; it is a natural law of souls; it will continue forever for when true love comes to normal people it is always exclusive.

We may have many times, but the great true love comes but once.—or, Frank Crane in Woman's World for September.
